

CEDROM-SNi announces addition of seven new information sources

Paris, March 7 2005 — CEDROM-SNi, a leading news content aggregator in France, has announced the online launch of seven new information sources on its Europresse.com search and monitoring platform.

Continuing with its development strategy, CEDROM-SNi has signed new partnership agreements with leading French publishers in order to provide Europresse.com users targeted information that is even more comprehensive.

CEDROM-SNi now provides its customers with access to Nouvel Observateur as well as articles from NouvelObs.com.

To improve its regional news coverage, CEDROM-SNi has added La Voix du Nord. This new title enhances its regional daily press lineup, which includes Le Bien Public, Journal de Saône et Loire, La Nouvelle République du Centre Ouest, Ouest-France, Le Parisien, Le Progrès, Sud-Ouest, and Le Télégramme de Brest.

Last, CEDROM-SNi is also enhancing its specialized economic and financial news content by adding four periodicals: Challenges, Le Revenu Hebdo, Le Revenu Mensuel, and Mieux Vivre Votre argent. Note that after acquiring DIVA-Press in January 2004, CEDROM-SNI had already rounded out its specialized economic and financial content by becoming the exclusive distributor of FININTEL group publications: L'Agefi, L'Agefi Actifs, and Guide des États Majors.

These eminent publications complement the hundreds of French and foreign news titles already available through Europresse.com, a service designed for IT and communications professionals, as well as any knowledge worker needing quick and easy access to targeted information. This tool lets users search the archives of all available titles simultaneously, set up personalized email alerts, and distribute and share selected information.
